PREFATORY NOTE.

A FEW details relating to the formation of this splendid series of Greek coins will be found in the sale catalogue describing the British and Anglo-Saxon sections of Mr. Montagu's Collection. As, however, that sale appealed more to collectors of English coins, the catalogue may not have reached the hands of some of those who devote themselves specially to Greek coins. For that reason we will recapitulate some of our remarks on the Greek series, which were included in the biographical sketch of Mr. Montagu.

It was not till he had completed the formation of his cabinet of English coins that Mr. Montagu turned his attention to those of earlier times. It may be of interest to note that the first Greek coin which Mr. Montagu purchased was the beautiful Stater of Croton described in lot 73. The extreme beauty of this coin, as a work of art, particularly attracted Mr. Montagu, and he purchased it, not at the time having any serious intention of devoting himself to forming a collection of this series. So much so, that, shortly after acquiring it, he offered to hand it over to a brother-collector, who, to his after-regret, did not accept the offer. This coin proved to be the deciding point; and, when Mr. Montagu met his friend shortly afterwards, he remarked "I am glad you did not take that coin, because it has made me a collector of Greek coins." This occurred in 1889, and thus fixes the date of the commencement of the formation of this cabinet of Greek coins.

The zeal which Mr. Montagu had shown in collecting English coins was now turned to those of Greece, and he was quite as successful in this second instance as in the first; for, as we have previously remarked, "what Mr. Montagu undertook it was always his endeavour to accomplish thoroughly, and this dominant feature in his character was the keynote to his success." Even in the pressure of the multifarious duties of his profession Mr. Montagu had always kept up his acquaintance with the classics: so that the pages of Eckhel were as accessible to him as any other numismatic work in his library.

At first, as in the case of forming his English cabinet, Mr. Montagu purchased cautiously, chiefly at public sales and of dealers, always, however, selecting fine specimens, and such as were of special numismatic or historical interest. His practised eye told him at once what was true and what was false, so that he had not that difficulty to contend with, which always meets a beginner. He was a past-master in his art. The acquisition, in 1893, of the whole of the stock of M. Hoffman, the well-known dealer in Paris, placed Mr. Montagu's collection on a very firm basis. It was a splendid acquisition, as it contained a very large number of very fine and exceedingly interesting coins.* From that date Mr. Montagu increased his collection with remarkable rapidity, such as never before was the fortune of a collector to accomplish.

His frequent visits to the Continent placed him in correspondence with the foreign dealers, and there was scarcely one of any standing over the whole width and breadth of Europe and in Asia Minor with whom he had not transactions at one time or another. Mr. Montagu was also on terms of friendship with most of the private collectors on the Continent, through whom he obtained many interesting coins. The rapidity with which he collected is shown by the extent of his collection: and, had he lived but a few years longer, in completeness it would probably have rivalled his English series.

The present occasion offers to collectors a rare opportunity of adding to their treasures. Since the dispersion of the Northwick cabinet in 1859, no collection of Greek coins so remarkable for their beauty, condition and numismatic importance, as that formed by Mr. Montagu has been offered by public auction in this country. A perusal of the pages of this catalogue must convince the reader of the truth of this remark. To attempt to particularise what is of a special nature would mean the recapitulation of nearly the whole catalogue. The plates will give some idea of the beauty and fine condition of the coins: but it must be understood that these form but a limited selection. There would have been no difficulty in reproducing double, or even treble, the number of equally fine pieces.

Where possible the previous collections through which the coins have passed are quoted: of these the greater number are from recent sales. As Mr. Montagu purchased very largely of dealers there are many cases where such information is not possible.

* The duplicates and coins in inferior condition in this collection were eliminated by Mr. Montagu, and sold at this house in December, 1894.

"Peu après, Alexandre II Zébina ayant mécontenté le roi d'Egypte, se vit opposer par Ptolémée un nouveau compétiteur dans la personne d'Antiochus VIII Grypus, frère de Séleucus V. Zébina, battu, se renferma dans Antioche, et là, pour solder les troupes qui lui restaient, il pilla le tresor du temple de Zeus et poussa l'audace jusqu'à enlever la Victoire d'or que le dieu tenait à la main : Iovis solidum ex auro signum Victoriæ tolli jubet, dit Justin. En vain essaya-t-il de se rendre le dieu et le peuple propices en disant qu'il acceptait la Victoire que Zeus lui offrait. Ce jeu de mots rapelle le fameux συγχρησόμεθα ταις Νίχαις είς τὸν πόλεμον, prononcé à Athènes, lorsque, pour soutenir la guerre en 406 av J. C. on fit fondre les Victoires d'or du Parthenon. MAIS CE QUI EST PARTICULIÈREMENT INTÉRESSANT, C'EST QU'IL NOUS EST PARVENU UN SPÉCIMEN DE CETTE MONNAIE D'OR FABRIQUÉE AVEC LES TRÉSORS ET LA VICTOIRE ENLEVÉS À ZEUS. N'EST-IL PAS PARTICULIÈREMENT CURIEUX DE RAPPROCHER CETTE PIECE DOR DE L'ANECDOTE QUE NOUS VENONS DE RAPPORTER?"—Babelon, Introduction, pp. CXLIX, CL.
